FACULTY

Laurie Lovejoy McNichol, MSN, RN, CNS, GNP, CWOCN, CWON-AP, FAAN

Laurie McNichol is a Clinical Nurse Specialist and Wound Ostomy and Continence Advanced Practice Nurse at Cone Health in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Her career as a WOC Nurse has focused on the prevention and treatment of pressure injuries, the care of the ostomy patient with a focus on the prevention of peristomal skin complications, incontinence-associated dermatitis and medical adhesive related skin injuries. She co-edited the core curriculum textbook on wound care, has published widely and contributed to each of the WOCN Society's electronic decision support tools. She has lectured both nationally and internationally.

Ms. McNichol served as the President of the Wound, Ostomy and Continence Nursing Certification Board (WOCNCB), President of the Wound, Ostomy and Continence Nurses Society (WOCN®) and President of the National Pressure Ulcer Advisory Panel (NPUAP, now NPIAP). Laurie is a Fellow in the American Academy of Nursing and in 2017 was the Magnet Nurse of the Year for New Knowledge, Innovations and Improvements.

Ms. McNichol received her BSN from D'Youville College in Buffalo, New York and her MSN with a focus in gerontological nursing and post master's certificate as a geriatric nurse practitioner from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Stephanie Sears Yates, MSN, RN, ANP-BC, CWOCN

Stephanie is a Master's prepared adult nurse practitioner and a certified WOC Nurse. She has cared for patients with wounds for many years across the spectrum of care and in both adult and geriatric populations. She worked for 6 years in the Duke Wound Clinic seeing a variety of wounds but commonly venous ulcers.

Stephanie has authored several journal articles and co-edited the recently revised WOCN Wound Care Core Curriculum. She has lectured on wound care topics nationally. She is currently serving as President of the Wound Ostomy and Continence Nurses Society and co-editing an update to the WOCN Wound Care Core Curriculum.
